

CAPE CONFERENCE

RCMP Training Academy at Depot Division
Tuesday, May 20th – Registration and Meet and Greet
Wednesday, May 21st - Friday, May 23rd, 2014

The goal of this year's CAPE conference is to engage the community of police educators in active discussion around accountability, evidence based training, and technological advancements which will influence the future.

CAPE attendees will be divided into small groups. These small groups will meet with a representative of each of the different delivery units of the RCMP Training Academy, tour the facilities, and explore the challenges and solutions faced by police educators in relation to that discipline.

Participants will attend a variety of presentations, each of which will be followed by an opportunity for collaborative exploration of the subject presented. The presentations include:

- Drill: Does it have a place in modern police training?
- Overview of the RCMP Cadet training program.
- Advantages of a synthetic firearms program with Graham MacRae.
- Mobile Learning Devices (Tablets) in police training with Christine Hudy.
- The Evidence behind the integration of technology in police training with Greg Kratzig.
- Integrating innovations of technology within the training program with Christine Hudy.
- Subject matter experts: How do we identify them and what is their role in training? with Graham MacRae
- Creating texture within police training through the implementation of creative technology with Martin Castle
- Research: working with your library with Amy Rankin

There will be opportunities to network and exchange ideas in an informal setting.
